Re: JSTOR Forum Campus-wide License

The UCSB Information Technology Board authorized the acquisition of a campus-wide JSTOR Forum license, which makes JSTOR Forum available to campus, effective today.

JSTOR Forum allows researchers and instructors to share digital media (images, audio, video, etc.) and descriptive metadata online with others. JSTOR Forum provides a platform for uploading, organizing, documenting, and sharing digital content within UCSB, across all UC campuses, with other Artstor subscribers, or to the general public.

To begin using JSTOR Forum with administrative support, complete this brief project proposal form. Please contact Jackie Spafford, the UCSB JSTOR Forum administrator, with questions or to learn more about the benefits of JSTOR Forum at spafford@hfa.ucsb.edu or (805) 893-2509.
